

THE FACE OF RETIREMENT LIVING TREYTON OAK TOWERS

Research supports better quality of life for residents through cultural groups in retirement facilities. Treyton Oak Towers is full of art enthusiasts as well as artists. Arts and cultural events are uniquely encouraged through ongoing support of Louisville Orchestra's Coffee Concert Series as well as Louisville Ballet and Fund For The Arts. Treyton Oak is proud to announce their newest sponsorship with Kentucky Opera for the upcoming season!

Treyton Oak blends timeless elegance and modern convenience like a fine hotel. Retirement is redefined with comfort, charm and Southern hospitality, including delightful food served in a dining room like none other in the city. Rhonda Harding, Director of Residency Development, joined Treyton Oak 16 years ago when she moved to Louisville. At the time, she had 17 years experience in the hospitality industry, but once she interviewed with Treyton Oak she knew she belonged there. After 25+ years in sales and marketing, Paula Carey thought she'd retired. Three years ago, though, after experiencing Treyton Oak's hospitality when her mother rehabbed there, she joined Rhonda on the Marketing team as Sales and Outreach Coordinator.
